90% of practice managers say patient documentation is a burden to their practice.

76% of practice teams spend over half their time doing patient documentation.

49% of GP practices report that over half their patient documentation is paper versus electronic.

Key challenges of patient documentation:
- Backlog (43%)
- Volume (87%)
- Quality (46%)

The majority of GP practice managers stated that funding (70%) is a key challenge when implementing new technology, with the time and people resources (67%) also listed as significant hurdles. IT knowledge and experience (40%) was cited as a barrier by two in five of doctors, while data security and privacy was a concern for just 22 per cent.

33% of practice managers claiming that better technology would improve the paperwork workload.

Key challenges of new technology:
- Funding (70%)
- Resources (67%)
- Knowledge (40%)
- Security (22%)

Dr. Ivan Camphor Senior, Partner at Heatherlands Medical Centre in Wirral

From personal experience, I can tell you that the answer to these three questions is an emphatic “yes.”

Prevent burnout. Get in touch with us today!

www.nuance.co.uk/healthcare
@voice4health